We may also use external third-party companies (data processors) to process your personal information. These companies will be bound by contractual agreements to ensure information is kept confidential and secure. This means that they cannot do anything with your personal information unless we have instructed them to do it. They will not share your personal information with any organisation apart from us. They will hold it securely and retain it for the period we instruct.

We will not share your information with any third parties for the purposes of direct marketing.

The Practice will only use and share your information where there is a legal basis to do so.

A full list of how your data may be used and shared can be found in ANNEX 1.

Our legal basis for processing your personal data

The legal bases for most of our processing relates to your direct care and treatment:

- Article 6(1)(e) – processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller.

Where we have a specific legal obligation that requires the processing of personal data, the legal basis is:

- Article 6(1)(c) – processing is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which the controller is subject.

Where we process special category data, for example data concerning health, racial or ethnic origin or sexual orientation, we need to meet an additional condition in the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR). Where we are processing special category data for purposes related to the commissioning and provision of health services the condition is:

- Article 9(2)(h) – processing is necessary for the purposes of preventive or occupational medicine, for the assessment of the working capacity of the employee, medical diagnosis, the provision of health or social care or treatment or the management of health or social care systems and service; or
- Article 9(2)(i) – processing is necessary for reasons of public interest in the area of public health, such as protecting against serious cross-border threats to health or ensuring high standards of quality and safety of health care and of medicinal products or medical devices.

The Practice may process your personal data for the purposes of research, in such circumstances our legal basis for doing so will be:

- Article 6 (1)(e) – processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller.

Where we process special category data for research purposes the legal basis for doing so is:

- Article 9 (2)(a) – you have provided your explicit consent
- Article 9(2)(j) – processing is necessary for scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes.

Where the Practice relies on your consent for the processing, you have the right to withdraw consent at any time.

The Practice may also process personal data for the purpose of, or in connection with, legal proceedings (including prospective legal proceedings), for the purpose of obtaining legal advice, or for the purpose of establishing, exercising or defending legal rights. Where we process personal data for these purposes, the legal basis for doing so is:

- Article 6(1)(e) – processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller; or
- Article 6(1)(c) – processing is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which the controller is subject

Where we process special category data for these purposes, the legal basis for doing so is:

- Article 9(2)(f) – processing is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims; or
- Article 9(2)(g) – processing is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest.

In rare circumstances we may need to share information with law enforcement agencies or to protect the wellbeing of others for example to safeguard children or vulnerable adults. In such circumstances a legal basis for sharing information is:

- Article 6(1)(c) – processing is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which the controller is subject; or
- Article 6(1)(d) - processing is necessary to protect the vital interest of the data subject or another natural person; or
- Article 6(1)(e) – processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller.

Where we share special category data for the purposes of safeguarding, the legal basis for doing so is:

- Article 9(2)(g) - processing is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest; Data Protection Act 2018 S10 and Schedule 1, Paragraph 18 ‘Safeguarding of children and individuals at risk’

How We Keep Your Information Confidential and Secure

We are committed to protecting your privacy and will only use information collected lawfully in accordance with the UK GDPR. Everyone working in or for the NHS must handle personal information in a secure and confidential manner.

Please be aware that your information will be accessed by non-clinical Practice staff in order to perform tasks enabling the functioning of the Practice. These are, but not limited to:

- Typing referral letters to Hospital Consultants or allied Health Professionals
- Opening letters from hospitals and Consultants
- Scanning clinical letters, reports and any other documents not available electronically
- Photocopying or printing documents for referral to consultants
- Handling, printing, photocopying and postage of medical, legal and life assurance reports and other associated documents

When you register with the Practice we may ask for proof of ID – this is to ensure that no one tries to register you at the Practice using your identity but without your knowledge.

To protect your confidentiality, we will not normally disclose any medical information about you over the telephone, or by fax, unless we are sure that we are talking to you. This means that we will not disclose information to your family, friends, and colleagues about any medical matters at all, unless we know that we have your consent to do so.

We will only ever use or pass on your information if there is a genuine need to do so. We will not disclose information about you to third parties without your permission unless there are exceptional circumstances, such as when the law requires.

All persons in the Practice (whether employed by the Doctors, or for the Local Health Board) sign a confidentiality agreement that explicitly makes clear, their duties in relation to personal health information and the consequences of breaching that duty.

Retention of your Personal Information / Storing your Information

We are required by UK law to keep your information and data for a defined period, often referred to as a retention period. The Practice will keep your information in line with the practice records management policy and retention schedule. Please contact the Practice to obtain a copy.

Change of Details

It is important to notify the practice of any changes in your personal details such as your name, address, telephone number or if any of your details are incorrect such as date of birth. It is the patients' responsibility to inform the practice of any changes in order to keep our records up to date at all times.

Your Rights

The UK GDPR includes several rights. We must generally respond to requests in relation to your rights within one month, although there are some exceptions to this.

The availability of some of these rights depends on the legal basis that applies in relation to the processing of your personal data, there are some circumstances in which we may not uphold a request to exercise a right.

Your rights and how they apply are described below:

Right to be Informed

Your right to be informed is met by the provision of this privacy notice, and similar information when we communicate with you directly – at the point of contact.

Right of Access

You have the right to obtain a copy of personal data that we hold about you and other information specified in the UK GDPR, although there are exceptions to what we are obliged to disclose.

The Practice may not provide information where an appropriate health professional has determined that disclosure would be likely cause serious harm to the physical or mental health of you or others.

The Practice requires patients to complete a request form to establish which part of your record you are requesting and to provide a form of ID. There may be a charge for excessive requests. We are required to respond to your request within 1 calendar month.

Right to Rectification

You have the right to ask us to rectify any inaccurate data that we hold about you.

Right to Erasure (right to be forgotten)

You have the right to request that we erase personal data about you that we hold. This is not an absolute right, and depending on the legal basis that applies, we may have overriding legitimate grounds to continue to process the data.

Right to Restriction of Processing

You have the right to request that we restrict the processing of the personal data about you that we hold. You can ask us to do this for example where you contest the accuracy of the data.

Right to Data Portability

This right is only available where the legal basis for processing under the UK GDPR is consent, or for the purposes of a contract between you and the Practice. For this to apply the data must be held in electronic form. The right is to be provided with the data in a commonly used electronic format.

Right to Object

You have the right to object to processing of personal data about you at any time. The right is not absolute, and we may continue to use the data if we can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds, unless your objection relates to marketing.

Rights in relation to automated individual decision-making including profiling

You have the right to object to being subject to a decision based solely on automated processing, including profiling. Should we perform any automated decision-making, we will record this in our privacy notice, and ensure that you have an opportunity to request that the decision involves personal consideration.

Right to complain to the Information Commissioner

You have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner if you are not happy with any aspect of the Practices processing of personal data or believe that we are not meeting our responsibilities as a data controller. The contact details for the Information Commissioner are:
